APPICON 2005

51st Annual Conference of the Association of Physiologists and Pharmacologists of India

First announcement:

Respected dear friends and colleagues,

It gives me great pleasure to invite you to APPICON 2005, the 51st Annual Conference of our prestigious association - the Association of Physiologists and Pharmacologists of India (APPI) to be held at Jawaharlal Institute of Postgraduate Medical Education and Research (JIPMER), Pondicherry, between 12 and 15 December 2005. On behalf of the Department of Physiology and JIPMER administration, I extend a warm welcome to you and request you to attend this conference and contribute to its success. Two pre-conference workshops, one on pranayam and another on research, ethics and communication skills for postgraduate students have been planned to be held on 11 December. A CME programme focused on critical issues in postgraduate physiology education in India is proposed to held on 12 December. The conference programme will include the presentation of awards and orations of APPI, poster presentations, symposia with updates in cardiovascular physiology, high-altitude physiology, physiology education, ^{and} role of yoga in contemporary medicine. Your suggestions in this regard are welcome. Registration and abstract submission will commence on 1 August. A detailed announcement will follow. If you have any queries, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Dr. Madanmohan
